Narrative:
POINT:
On Friday, January 5 th , I, Officer Ashly Foster # 2897 responded to a suspicious object call to assist Officer Brian Casey # 2882.
During the course of the call a male arrived on scene to claim a cell phone that had been left in the same area of the unattended items. I attempted to question the male at that time. It was determined that the male owned a kiosk in the mall. At some point during the interview the male was allowed to return

to his kiosk and the interview was incomplete. At my supervisor's request, I approached the male to conduct a complete security interview later that day. During the interview process, I discovered many inconsistencies with the male's story. I was able to complete the interview. The call was cleared at 11:44 hours.
BODY: On Friday, January 5, at 1458 hours, I, Officer Ashley Foster #2897 responded to a suspicious object call made by officer Brian Casey #2882. Casey had discovered several unattended items in the Park food court. Two coolers and a stroller were left near one of the tables. A cell phone was also left on top of the table that the items were left by. Upon my arrival I assisted in setting up a perimeter as is our procedure. While maintaining the perimeter I noticed that a male approached officer Casey and was gesturing towards the table and the items. The male, later identified as Saleem Ahlekar Quereshi, was explaining that he wanted to get his cell phone from the table. Quereshi walked past Casey towards the table. At this time I approached Quereshi while Casey continued keeping guests from entering the perimeter. Casey called to dispatch about Quereshi and stated that I would be questioning him. I approached Quereshi. I introduced myself to Quereshi as Officer Foster with Mall security and displayed my Mall ID and badge. I explained to Quereshi that we were in the middle of a security procedure because of the unattended coolers and stroller. Quereshi stated that he understood and mentioned that he had done security for the Mall in the past. I asked Quereshi if the other items at the table belonged to him. He told me "no". I asked him

what he had been doing at the park food court when he left his cell phone there. Quereshi stated that he had a kiosk on the West side of the Mall. Quereshi said that he had met with a friend who worked in the food court. I asked Quereshi what her name was. Quereshi told me "██████████" and also stated that she was from Egypt. I asked Quereshi where the female was at the moment. Quereshi replied that she had gone back to work. He stated that she had just gone through an employee door that leads behind the food service counter in the food court. Quereshi then pointed to a woman behind the counter and stated "she knows her". I asked Quereshi to wait while I talked with the female behind the counter. I then approached the woman Quereshi had pointed out behind the food service counter. I asked the woman if she knew an employee by the name ██████████. The woman stated that no one by that name worked there. I then pointed out Quereshi to the woman and asked if she had seen that man meet with anyone in the food court. The woman recognized Quereshi and stated that he had met with an employee that works there, but that her name was ██████████. The woman also told me that ██████████ had left for the day over an hour before. I went back to continue questioning Quereshi but found that Officer Casey had told him he could go back to his kiosk. I could not clarify any information at that time. My interview was incomplete. We proceeded to finish the procedure for suspicious objects. Call was cleared at 15:06 hours. After informing my supervisor about the partial interview, Michael Rozin advised me to go and interview

Quereshi at his kiosk. At 1624 hours I approached the kiosk "Minnesota Rock House" on level one at the West side of the Mall. I introduced myself again as Officer Foster with Mall Security and displayed my badge and ID. I explained the interview process and asked him if I could talk to him for a few minutes. I asked Quereshi how long he had worked at the kiosk. Quereshi answered about four or five months. I asked who owned the kiosk. He replied that he was the owner, his three sons were investors. I asked how many people worked at the kiosk. Quereshi stated that he was the only one who worked there. He said that he was there every day. I then asked Quereshi when he had worked for security in the mall as he had previously mentioned. He replied that he had worked for American Security at the Mall. I asked what he did before he worked at the Mall. Quereshi said that he had been an Electrical Engineer for a company called [REDACTED]. He stated that he had worked out of Green Bay, Wisconsin. I asked Quereshi where he had gone to school for electrical engineering and he said that he studied in London and had a degree in Electrical Engineering. I asked him where he was from and he replied "Pakistan". Quereshi went on to explain that he had flown home for a visit and had gotten stuck there because of the events of September 11, 2001, and the period of time when no one was allowed to fly anywhere. Quereshi said that his job had let him go because he was stuck in Pakistan for two weeks. At this time Quereshi went on to talk about how Americans have an advantage being citizens of the US. He talked about living in the US for so many years and being a

legal citizen of the US now, but never being able to have the opportunities that native born Americans did. Quereshi talked about the fact that he could never be Governor or President because he was born in another country, even though he was smarter than all of them. I then asked Quereshi if his sons were born in the United States. He stated "yes". I asked how old his sons were. Quereshi paused, mumbled something I could not hear, and then said "27, ah... 25," and then mumbled a few more incoherent things. Quereshi stated that one son went to [REDACTED] for Electrical Engineering, and one son went to [REDACTED]. He said that one son worked for [REDACTED] in California. I asked what the son did for [REDACTED]. Quereshi replied again that he worked in California. Quereshi then went on to talk about how it is terrible to get old because no one will hire you when you are old. He avoided talking anymore about his sons, I was not able to learn anything about the third son. I asked Quereshi how long the "Minnesota Rock House" kiosk had been in the Mall. Quereshi replied "about two months". I asked how Quereshi got the idea of what kind of kiosk to open. He told me that he knew people in Pakistan to sell him the Rocks. I asked where the rocks came from. Quereshi stated "Pakistan". I asked him what the name of the company was that he got his merchandise from. He said "Rocks", and then said that there were many names for the company. I asked who made the sculptures. Quereshi replied "many people". I asked where they got the stones from to make the sculptures. Quereshi said, "Europe... and Pakistan". He said that the rocks came from the sea and showed me a sculpture with a shell

I asked how often he needed to bring in merchandise for his kiosk. Quereshi answered "Sometimes". At this time I asked Quereshi where he lived and he replied that he lived in St. Paul. I asked him where exactly. He seemed to give an answer but I was unable to comprehend what he said. Quereshi then asked me why I was asking so many questions and told me that I might scare business away. He then went on to talk about business being bad and the rent at the Mall being so high that he needed to sell. He talked about December being busier but January was very slow. I told Quereshi that the last part of the procedure was to verify his ID. I asked if he had his driver's license or his Mall ID badge. He told me that he had a Minnesota license and grabbed his wallet from the kiosk. Quereshi showed me a Minnesota Identification Card. I noticed that the address on the card said Plymouth. I asked Quereshi if this was an older ID card and he replied that it was about five years old. I then noticed that the issue date on the card read 12/2005. I also saw that Quereshi had a Wisconsin ID in his wallet but I did not see the card. I thanked Quereshi for his time and cooperation. Right before I walked away I asked again "What was the name of the woman you met up with today?" I thanked him again and restated that I was Officer Foster and displayed my ID again. At this time Quereshi became very interested with my Mall ID badge and wanted to look at it closely. He asked me what my rank was and I replied "Officer". Quereshi then asked why I did not wear a uniform like the other security officers. I told him that some of us don't. Then he wanted to know how many people didn't wear uniforms, who my superiors are, what their ranks are and how many of them are there. I just replied that I reported to a number of people and that "you know how it is, you worked in security...". At that point I was called to respond to an unattended item. I thanked Quereshi again and ended the interview. Throughout the interview Quereshi had a nervous demeanor. Quereshi moved around a lot when answering questions. At one point he moved to his kiosk and proceeded to take items off of two shelves just to switch them around. After many of his answers he would end with the phrase "That's the whole story". He seemed to get agitated at points when I would ask more detailed questions. He would mumble a lot or talk fast or quietly. Quereshi would try to change the direction of the conversation when the topic became more about his personal life. During the interview I verified through dispatch the [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] companies. The call was cleared at 1644.
